Market Lighting (bistro lights) are long strands of individual lights, which cast a warm glow indoors or outdoors. Individual Market Light strands can be connected to others in order to meet the required length to fill a space. The E27 style market light cabling can be either white or black, and the C9 style market light cabling can be either white or green to further blend into the environment. These can be hung from ground supported stands, or attached to existing rigging points across an area to create a celebratory environment. Market lights can also be programmed to be dimmable.
